TRAVEL

BY PLANE

Constantine the Great Airport in Niš is 4 km from the city. You can find the necessary information on the airport's website: <https://ini.aerodromisrbije.rs/en/> . Although the site sometimes offers recommendations on transfer from the airport to the Faculty of Philosophy, the suggestion is to take a taxi (it costs about 5 EUR in dinar equivalent):¹

- Bros taxi: +381 18 4155541
- Eko taxi: +381 60 3309000
- Taxi 500: + 381 60 6301500

In addition to direct flights to Niš, travelers can get to Niš using international airports in Belgrade (BEG), Sofia (SOF) or Skopje (SKP). Several companies offer shuttle transfer from these airports to Niš at very competitive prices. At the agreed time, shuttle vehicles wait for passengers at the airport, or pickup passengers at their accommodation in Niš. If you need help organizing transportation to or from airport, send an e-mail to jelena.bozilovic@filfak.ni.ac.rs or dijana.milosevic@filfak.ni.ac.rs, and specify the date and place of your arrival and departure. Alternatively, bus transportation can be used, with a particularly good connection between the central bus station in Belgrade and Niš.

BY CAR

The European highway E75 reaches Niš. You can use any highway from the north and then from the Hungarian border via Novi Sad and Belgrade to Niš. From the northwest you can travel through Austria, Slovenia and Croatia to Belgrade and then to Niš. The speed limit on the highway in Serbia is 130km/h, tolls are paid at the toll stations, and the distance from Belgrade to Niš usually takes about 2 hours.

BY BUS

Almost all buses traveling from the northwest Europe to Bulgaria, or further southeast to Turkey, also have a stop in Niš. All buses traveling between Belgrade and Greece or Macedonia also stop in Niš. The average bus journey from Belgrade takes three hours, but make sure you choose a direct bus from Belgrade Central Bus Station to Niš, as some buses will stop in a dozen towns along the way, sometimes leaving the highway, which can significantly increase the duration of the journey.

BY TRAIN

The trains are usually slow and not very clean, but the tickets are cheap, the scenery is beautiful, and you usually have the option of choosing a sleeping car. The train station in Niš is located 2 km east of the main square, about half an hour's walk.
